The Problem: When the map changes faster than you can read it

A changing workplace

THE GAP

of Malaysian professionals already use AI tools at work — but the skills behind the tools keep moving.

56%

received formal AI training. Most of us are learning on the fly, without a clear direction.

26%

workers in Malaysia will need reskilling in the next 3–5 years. The question is: reskill into what?

Why it hurts

CORE ISSUES

What you know

- Most people know their skills. What they don't know is where those skills fit in a future reshaped by AI.

What to learn

- Learning paths go stale the moment they're published. By the time you finish a course, the market may have moved on.

The opportunity

- Turn anxiety into a first small step — a path that updates as the world does, not a verdict set in stone.
